

7ICCH

Seventh International Congress on Construction History

Name: Sousa Melo

First name: Arnaldo

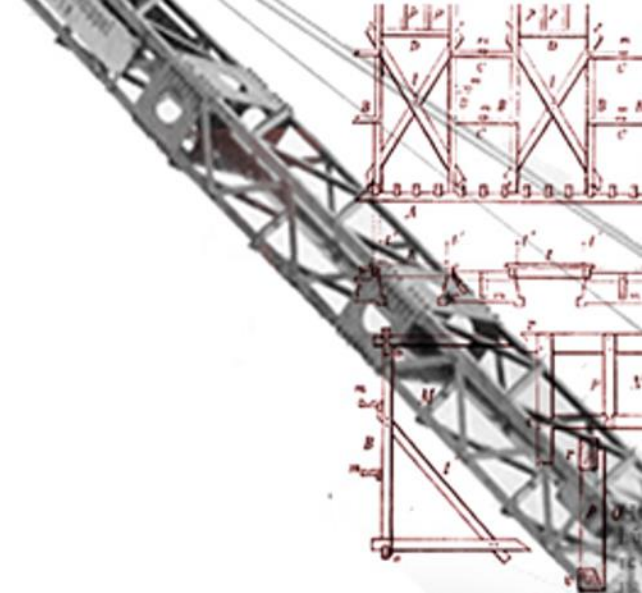

Function: Professor

Affiliation: Department of History, Institute of Social Sciences, Universidade do Minho

Country: Portugal

Email: amelo@ics.uminho.pt

CV: Professor (Professor Auxiliar com Agregação) at the Department of History, Institute of Social Sciences, Universidade do Minho (Braga - Portugal). Researcher at the Landscape, Heritage and Territory Laboratory - Lab2PT - research unit at the University of Minho; Associate researcher at LAMOP - Université de Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne and CNRS. Licenciado (Bachelor - BA) in History (1990) and Master (MA) in Medieval History (1996), both in the Faculty of Arts of the University of Porto (Faculdade de Letras da Universidade do Porto). Doutor (Ph.D) in History of the Middle Ages (2009) in the University of Minho and Docteur (Ph.D) in Histoire et civilisations in the École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales (Paris). Agregação (habilitation) in History of the Middle Ages in the University of Minho (2017). Main research subjects and interests include Medieval History, Portuguese and European; medieval industrial and artisanal organisation; productive structures, labour organisation and regulation of crafts in late medieval/ early modern (14th to early 16th centuries); social, economic and political structures in medieval urban spaces; construction history (13th to early 16th); and environmental history in late medieval times. Has several publications on these subjects, in book chapters and papers published in reputed international scientific journals. Direction of several MA. and Ph.D thesis. Currently directs Medcrafts, an FCT financed research project, on crafts regulations in Portugal in 14th - 15th centuries. Member of several scientific organizations, namely in construction history, such as the Portuguese SPEHC (Sociedade Portuguesa de Estudos de História da Construção) and the French AFHC (Association Francophone d'Histoire de la Construction); member of Reportha (environment history network), among others.

7ICCH

Seventh International Congress on Construction History

