

7ICCH

Seventh International Congress on Construction History

Name: Bertels

First name: Inge

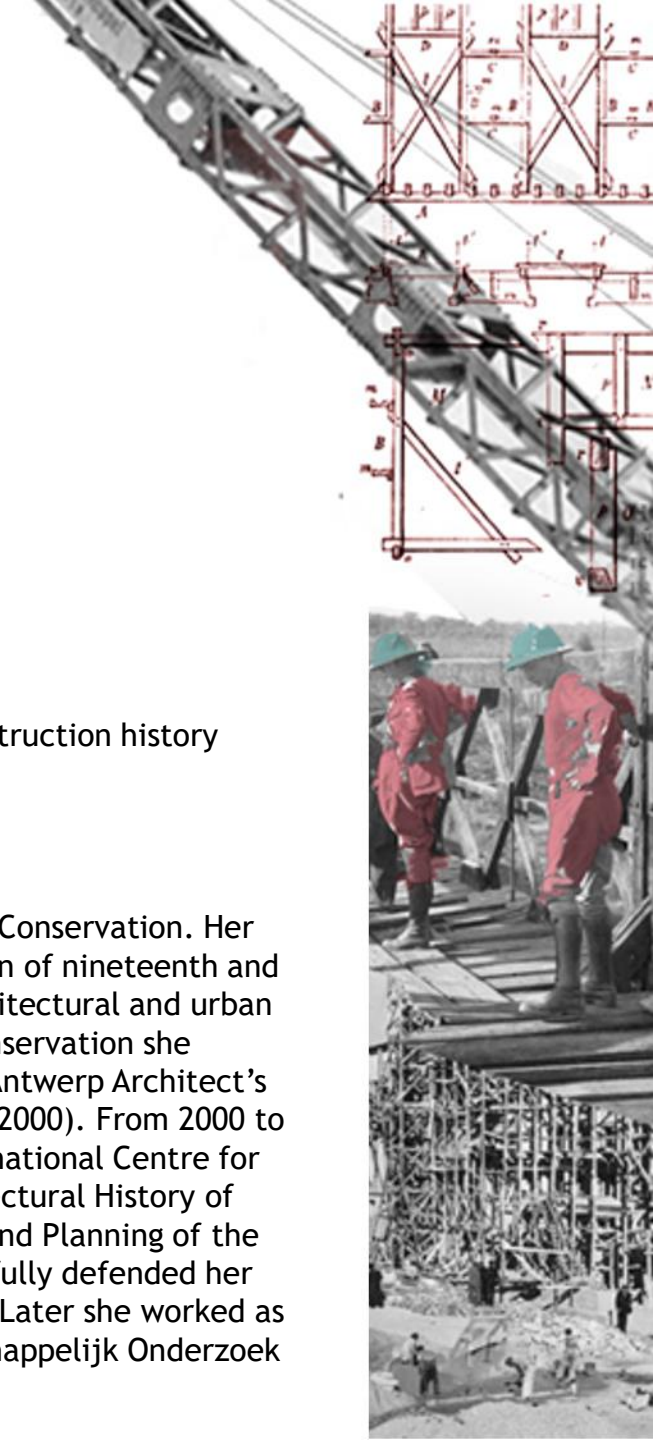

Function: Professor in architecture and construction history

Affiliation: Universiteit Antwerpen

Country: Belgium

Email: inge.bertels@uantwerpen.be

CV: Inge Bertels is a historian and master in Conservation. Her personal research focuses on the intersection of nineteenth and twentieth century construction history, architectural and urban history. Simultaneous with her studies in conservation she worked as an architectural historian at the Antwerp Architect's offices R. Steenmeijer & H. Baksteen (1999-2000). From 2000 to 2006 she was related to the R. Lemaire International Centre for Conservation and the research group Architectural History of the Department of Architecture, Urbanism and Planning of the KULeuven. Where, in April 2008 she successfully defended her PhD 'Building the City, Antwerp 1819-1890'. Later she worked as a postdoctoral fellow of the Fonds Wetenschappelijk Onderzoek

7ICCH

Seventh International Congress on Construction History

at the Centre of Urban History of the Universiteit Antwerpen and as a lecturer and researcher at the Department Architectural Engineering of the Vrije Universiteit Brussel. Since February 2018 she holds a fulltime position as professor in architectural history and building culture at the Faculty of Design Sciences of the Universiteit Antwerpen. She is a member of the advisory board of the International Journal of Construction History, member of Le Conseil d'administration of the Association francophone d'histoire de la construction (Paris) and a member of the Board of the Vlaams Architectuurinstituut (VAi) and invited among others to participate in the expert review panels of the FWO and EU research funding programs.

Webpage: <https://www.uantwerpen.be/nl/personeel/ingebertel/s/>

