

7ICCH

Seventh International Congress on Construction History

Name: Peters

First name: Tom F.

Function: Emeritus Professor of Architecture and History

Affiliation: Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, USA

Country: United States of America

Email: tomfpeters@gmail.com

CV: Peters was born in Berkeley, California, educated in Rochester NY, Mumbai, and Zurich, before training as an architect at the ETH Zurich with a focus in construction and materials. He subsequently worked as an architect in Denmark, England, and Switzerland before turning to teaching construction and research. He holds a master degree and a doctorate in architecture from the ETH Zurich and a habilitation in the history of technology from the TH Darmstadt. From 1982-2007 he taught architectural technology and history at the University of California at Berkeley, Cornell University and Lehigh University. He also served as Director of the Building and Technology Institute there from 1989-2007, and as Chair Professor and Chairman of Architecture at the Chinese University of Hong Kong 1998-2000. His writing and lecturing ranges from the theory of technological thinking in civil engineering and architectural design, cultural theory in structural engineering, and pedagogical studies on teaching construction and materials, to treatises and articles on construction history, a field he helped found and develop from the mid 1970s. He is the author of many influential books, reports and articles and is known for his expertise in antiquarian books that deal with civil engineering and construction. Peters lectures and has worked with schools or professional groups worldwide, serving as advisor to several undergraduate and graduate architecture programs.

7ICCH

Seventh International Congress on Construction History

