

7ICCH

Seventh International Congress on Construction History

Name: Chen

First name: Yunlian

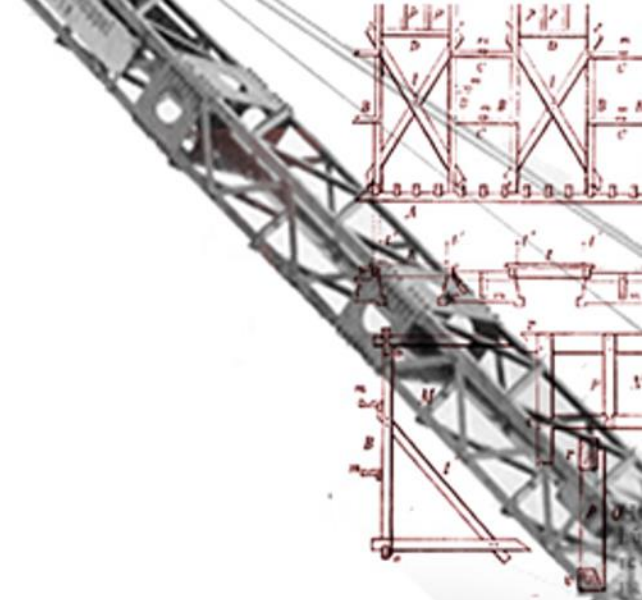

Function: Associate Professor

Affiliation: Gunma University, Japan

Country: Japan

Email: chenunren@gunma-u.ac.jp, chenunren@gmail.com

CV: I was trained as an architectural historian by doing my MPhil and PhD courses at Kyoto Prefectural University Japan from 2002 to 2010. After completed my postdoctoral programmes at Nagoya University and University of Cambridge in 2010-2016, I became a university lecturer in Japan's Architectural History and Urban History of East Asia at Okayama University in 2016-2019. Currently, I am teaching at Gunma University. My main research interests are Construction Process of Colonial Architectures and Cities in Modern East Asian Region. My first book is Urban Formation History of Modern Shanghai (Japanese, 354 pages, 『近代上海の都市形成史』, 風響社, 2018), which has clarified the construction process of

7ICCH

Seventh International Congress on Construction History

Modern Shanghai's road, drainage, harbour and residential architectures. I have been concentrating on the research project in Harbour Construction History of Hong Kong, Taiwan, Japan and Amoy since 2016, which is sponsored by JSPS.

